

Annual National Cancer Survivors Day®

Western Connecticut Health Network, in partnership with Ann's Place is pleased to invite our cancer survivors along with a guest to our 22nd Annual National Cancer Survivors Day®

Sunday, June 2, 2019
9 to 11 a.m.

Ethan Allen Hotel

21 Lake Avenue
Danbury, Connecticut

Check-in opens at 8:30 a.m.

A "cancer survivor" is defined as anyone living with a history of cancer – from the moment of diagnosis through the remainder of life.

Register online by

May 27th at:

www.annsplace.org

Click on: "News and Events" and
"Cancer Survivors Day"

Seating for this free event is limited!

Join us for a morning that celebrates you!

Enjoy a lovely breakfast with friends while making new connections.

*Our featured speaker, Patty Steele will be joined by Medical Oncologist, Dr. Robert Cooper and Complementary Medicine Practitioner, Peggy
O'Shea, RN for an enlightening conversation.*

Patty Steele, a cancer survivor for over four years is co-host on the CBS-FM morning radio show with Scott Shannon. She has had an extensive career in radio as a disc jockey, morning show personality and news anchor. You can also hear her weekly podcast with morning anchor Wayne Cabot on WCBS-AM Newsradio called "News On The Rocks."

As a cancer survivor, Patty is very active in a number of charity endeavors and is passionate about bringing awareness to breast cancer. She helped raise 1.7 million dollars for Breast Cancer Alliance, and she was honored by the T.J. Martell Foundation, a music industry cancer charity. Patty is also passionately involved in and speaks for a variety of addiction causes.

She was born in NYC and received her degree in journalism from Principia College, Ohio. She is an avid reader and loves history, as well as gardening, animals, travel, architecture, and anything to do with the outdoors. She and her husband Steve have owned a number of radio stations around the country and have 3 amazing children.